I Should Have Worn Shoes

There I was at the gates of the Flying Tomb of King Toastytoes floating more than 50,000 feet above ground on Sky Island. We needed to get some socks to warm up Pam's frozen hooves after our recent sled race. She was wearing my boots for now, but I only had enough for her front feet. Living so high in the sky, King Toastytoes was famous for his incredibly warm socks. It's rumored that hundreds of socks were placed in his tomb when he died. Pam needed those socks.

But the vicious toe-licking salamanders guarded the entrance to the tomb. The king's ultra thick socks also served as protection from these annoying toe sniffers. To make things worse, Pam dared me to go shoeless on this expedition! She said something about it helping me understand what

Remember Verse

For the LORD is the great God, the great King above all gods. In his hand are the depths of the earth, and the mountain peaks belong to him. The sea is his, for he made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

Psalms 95:3-5 (NIV)

What's That Word?

_____ A name for Jesus. Even though Jesus was born on earth, God is His Father. Jesus is fully God and fully human.

_____ The older sister of Lazarus and friend of Jesus. She often took care of everyone and took care of the house. Sometimes, she put her duties above spending time with Jesus. (Luke 10:38-42)

_____ From the city of Bethany, the sister of Lazarus and a friend of Jesus (Not the mother of Jesus). She knew it was important to spend time with Jesus.

Eureka! Bible Passage: John 11:1-45

- A. Jesus was friends with a man named Lazarus and his sisters, Mary and Martha. They lived in the village of Bethany. Lazarus got sick, so his sisters sent a message to Jesus to tell Him. When Jesus received their message, He said, “This will not end in death. It will be for God’s glory.”
- B. Jesus loved Lazarus and his sisters, but He waited two days after He got their message before He left to visit them. When Jesus arrived, Lazarus had already died and been buried for four days.
- C. Martha came to meet Jesus. She said, “Lord, I wish you had come sooner! You could have kept my brother alive, but I know God will still give you whatever you ask for.”
- D. “I am the resurrection and the life,” Jesus said. “Everyone who believes in me will never die. Do you believe that?”

“Yes,” Martha answered, “I believe you are the Son of God.”

- E. Then Mary came to Jesus. She said, “Lord, you could have kept my brother alive.” When Jesus saw her crying, He was sad and He wept.
- They led Jesus to Lazarus’s tomb. He told them to roll the stone away from the entrance.
- F. Jesus prayed, and then He shouted, “Lazarus, come out!” Lazarus came out, wrapped in the clothes he was buried in.
- When people saw what Jesus did, they believed in Him.

alpacas had to deal with every day. When I scoffed, she honked back, "You try traipsing over 300 miles in the frozen tundra with exposed feet!" So, there I was, face-to-face with these toe-lickers in my cold bare feet.

The toe-lickers rushed at my feet and whipped out their tongues to slurp my popsicle toes. My feet were like ice cubes so I couldn't avoid their attack. They whipped their skinny tongues all over my chilly toes. And boy, did it tickle! I fell to my back, giggling like a baby explorer playing peek-a-boo with a torso rope. I laughed so hard my tears turned into icicles.

Pam enjoyed watching my hysterical torture. Since she had hooves, the toe-licking salamanders barely noticed her. But Pam always had my back, so I knew she was about to spring into action. Things were about to get serious.
